ATTENDANCE POLICY

CHJ Sunday School has attendance criteria in order to maximize the benefits of a Humanistic Jewish education for each child. Because we do not meet as frequently as other Sunday Schools, it is even more important for our kids to attend class regularly. We know from experience that participation, continuity and repetition are key to our learning environment.

We ask every family to follow our flexible attendance policy:

- Up to 3 absences from Sunday School classes are allowed;
- Any absences beyond 3 need to be made up through attendance at a CHJ program or event, which are listed in the calendar section of our website. Child-friendly programs include services, holiday celebrations, family Shabbats, and bar/bat mitzvah ceremonies, as well as some regular Friday night programming.
- Mitzvah kids who miss classes and make them up will need to turn in written reports about what they learned at the event, and they may be asked to present them to the school at a shalom session. All the makeups will need to be turned in by the next school session after the event in order to count, and all the makeups will need to be completed before the end of the school year.
- Compliance with the attendance policy is required for graduation and completion of bar/bat mitzvah requirements.
